The City of Albany is updating its Historic Preservation Plan in order to strengthen the City’s historic preservation program. The plan will acknowledge the role historic preservation plays in shaping the city’s character, while recognizing that additional efforts are needed to identify high priority areas for preservation, reinvestment, and economic development.

Come to one (or more) of these open houses to provide feedback on future historic resources and critical preservation issues.